

Warsaw, 23 December, 2016

The Jewish Community of Warsaw and the Polin Museum of the History of Polish Jews are the major organizations in Poland that work in the field of education and preservation of the Jewish history. From the moment of the establishment of the Museum, both institutions have maintained good relations and have closely cooperated, especially in the field of education. The Community is represented in the Museum's Advisory Committee, and the Museum has participated in the projects initiated by the Community. The Museum appreciates the Community's many efforts to preserve the Jewish material heritage and the Community has welcomed the Museum's success as a leading institution for Jewish history in Europe. The Community has built stronger Jewish life, and the Museum has brought Jewish history to thousands of Polish and foreign visitors. Our common goal is not only the education but also building secure and hospitable environment where Jewish life in Warsaw can flourish again. The challenge for us remains how to preserve better the Jewish material heritage – the legacy of hundreds of years of Polish-Jewish history.
